

somebody acts criminally down the line and you have been law abiding and you are at risk, that is what the bill said. It wasn't convoluted. It was clear and it was clean. I worked on it a long while, as have many others.

I am proud of our work product, and I would love to see this bill pass. But I now believe it is so dramatically wounded that it should not pass. I urge my colleagues to vote against it.

I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. CHAFEE). Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, and was read the third time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill having been read the third time, the question is, Shall the bill, as amended, pass? The yeas and nays have been ordered, and the clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. REID. I announce that the Senator from North Carolina (Mr. EDWARDS) and the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. JOHNSON) are necessarily absent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 8, nays 90, as follows:

[Rollcall Vote No. 30 Leg.]

NOT VOTING—2

Edwards	Johnson
---------	---------

The bill (S. 1805), as amended, was rejected.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote.

Mr. DODD. I move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Idaho.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I yield to the Senator from Arizona.

MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. KYL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to a period of morning business.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

ORDER OF BUSINESS

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, may I inquire, what sort of time—I want to get a few minutes in morning business, myself.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I would like only to thank all who were involved in the legislation.

Mr. KYL. Mr. President, I have a presentation I would like to make in morning business.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. KYL. While the Senator from Idaho is speaking, I will be happy to speak to the Senator from Connecticut.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Idaho.

CONSIDERATION OF S. 1805

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, we have just had 5 days of very important debate. I think all who entered the debate entered it with good will in mind. There have been different points of view, very strongly held different points of view. As a result of that, the final passage of S. 1805 was not possible, and the Senate defeated it. That is all I will say about that process.

I wish to thank so many people who have been tremendously helpful on my staff: Brooke Roberts, Lisa McGrath, and Doug Lucke, who worked extremely hard with me to perfect S. 1805 and bring it to the floor; Chairman HATCH and his staff of the Judiciary Committee: Ted Lehman, Brett Tolman, and Reed O'Connor; the leadership staff in the cloakroom; and the 55 cosponsors of S. 1805.

Certainly, there was a strong effort on the part of all to get this legislation to the floor, to get clean votes on it. We even, of course, had the effort of the House, with a better than two-to-one majority in the House, on a clean bill. The President asked that a clean bill be received at the White House.

None of that, in the final hours, appeared to be possible. Clearly, we were not going to be allowed to go to conference. The minority saw no advantage in allowing the process that is historical and responsible in the Senate to move forward because that, of course, takes unanimous consent or prolonged effort and votes to get there.

It is a very short timeline for this year, and we clearly need to move the process forward. We will look now to bring the House bill forward in a clean way. Ultimately, we hope we might get a cloture vote. This issue will not go away. It deserves to be voted on, up or down, by the Senate. Clearly, it is the will of the American people and, ultimately, we will have that day and that opportunity. That day was not today, as much as I wished it could be.

At the same time, when you have a bad bill that is created by the amendment process, it sometimes is difficult, if not impossible, to make it better or to make it acceptable. I would not send to this President or any President a bad bill of the kind that was crafted in the Senate through the amendment process over the last several days.

But, again, I thank so many who were involved in this effort. It is greatly appreciated.

With that, I yield the floor.

ORDER OF PROCEDURE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The minority whip.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senator from Connecticut, Mr. DODD, be recognized for up to 30 minutes—we are in a period of morning business—and following that, the floor return to Senator KYL.

Mr. KYL. Reserving the right to object; 20 minutes, yes, 30 minutes, no.

Mr. REID. I would say, no, he asked for 20 minutes.

Mr. KYL. Sorry. I say to the Senator from Nevada, is 20 minutes all right, then?

Mr. REID. Could we give him 25? Twenty minutes is fine. Twenty minutes is fine. Then the floor would return to Senator KYL.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, first, I thank the distinguished Senator from Nevada and the Senator from Arizona for their courtesies. I appreciate that very much.

HAITI

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I wish to address, if I may, the subject matter of Haiti and the events that have occurred there over the last several days, now going back a week or more, in that country, that beleaguered nation only a few hundred miles off the southern coast of Florida.

On Sunday morning, as we now all know, the democratically elected government, the President of Haiti, was forced out of office. The armed insurrection, led by former members of the disbanded Haitian Army, and its paramilitary wing called FRAPH, made it impossible for the Aristide government to maintain public order, without assistance from the international community—international assistance that was consciously withheld, in my view.

President Aristide left Haiti on Sunday morning aboard an American aircraft. President Aristide reportedly has
